

Professionals on your side!

CZECH INTERNATIONAL, a.s. is an authorized partner of LCS International, a.s. for the sale and implementation of the information system Helios Orange. We specialize in implementing Helios Orange, including the building of related solutions, with the possibility of modifications in keeping some records according to customer requirements. The development of these services is based on our long-term experience in using the Helios Orange application within our company, in both our head office in Havířov and all of our 15 branches.

Tailored solution

Helios Orange is a technologically advanced information and economic system that makes all common and highly specialized company processes more efficient. It provides a perfect and updated overview of the situation on the market and in the company, it assists in automating routine operations, making operations more efficient, reducing costs, and it also ensures efficient communication.

Advantages for you

■ Benefits for small companies

Small companies will appreciate the analytical extent of the system without the need of modifications or additionally developed features raising its price and extending the system setup time. The great advantage is acquisition of only those modules and sectors that are really needed. If a company develops, Helios Orange offers extension by specialized sectors and related solutions and increasing the number of users working with the system.

■ Awards

Prestigious awards prove recognition both by experts and system users. In 2004, the company was declared, by the expert jury, the winner of the ERP Czech competition in the category Company Information System of 2004 for Medium-Sized Companies. Its compliance with legislation and its analytical extent are regularly assessed by an independent audit. In 2005, Helios Orange received a Veritest Microsoft Platform Test certificate by an independent company.

■ Benefits for medium-sized companies

Medium-sized companies appreciate, in particular, the numerous specialized sectors and related solutions that can cover processes in companies engaged in various branches of business. The standard is the possibility of adjustment to specific management needs of these companies. For the correct system implementation we offer trained consultants who are ready to solve the requirements and questions of users from any fields and sectors.

■ Advanced technology

The client/server technology, upon which the system is built, ensures sufficient stability and data safety for all types of companies. The exclusive use of MS SQL server provides the maximum speed and unlimited work with stored data. All companies will appreciate the quality of database engine and other tools that Microsoft Corporation supplies with MS SQL servers.

Basic areas of Helios Orange and branch-oriented solutions

Each branch of business is unique and requires specific functions of the system. Therefore, we try to adjust Helios Orange, to the maximum extent, to individual customers' needs.

■ Basic system areas

With its extent, Helios Orange covers a comprehensive management of a company, from both the economic and trade point of view.

■ Branch-oriented solutions

Our development partners get acquainted with many sectors, collect knowledge from practice, follow the current trends and create highly specialized modules. Today, Helios Orange covers a wide range of branches and provides users with high comfort and quick access to information necessary for your correct decisions.

Services

Our company's primary goal is to create backgrounds for companies of any size and to provide our business partners in all sectors with comprehensive and professional services. We offer a wide spectrum of services that begin with an analysis of the starting situation and a proposal of implementing operations, continue with installation, training of operators and end with excessive operating and consultancy services.

■ Consultancy services are a standard from the initial meeting with a customer. Our consultants make an analysis with the aim to propose the optimum solution with regard to the specific needs of each client. For the entire period of using Helios Orange we guarantee our customers professional support via hot-line and/or remote access.

■ Hardware services include recommendation for overall configurations of a customer's IT infrastructure to ensure a faultless operation of the system and execution of turn-key delivery of the necessary hardware.

■ Implementing services are an integral part of the Helios System setup. They include, in particular, software setup, data transfer from existing systems, setting up user rights, relations between modules, consultation during setup.

■ Trainings are held individually according to client requirements, either in our own training centre or at the client's place.

■ Customer care includes regular information on new products, continuous consultations or regular updates of modules used. Available is also an emergency service in case of faults and unexpected system failures.
